INDIAN KNOWLEDGE SYSTEM AND HIGHER EDUCATION WITH REFERENCE TO NEW EDUCATION POLICY (NEP) 2020

11-13 March 2021 at Gandhi Bhawan, University of Delhi

The New Education Policy (NEP) is set to bring a slew of major changes in the coming years. One of the stated aims of the policy is to instill a 'deep-rooted pride' in being Indian, not only in thought, but also in spirit, intellect and deeds, as well as to develop knowledge, skills, values and dispositions that support responsible commitment to human rights sustainable development and living and global well-being. The thrust areas of the New Education Policy 2020, is to have a special focus on Indianness in the overall education structure of the country. The Policy, as is very clear in its tone and tenor, intends to introduce the various Indian knowledge systems in the mainstream education. There cannot be any debate that Sanskrit Language is the undisputed carrier of the rich knowledge traditions originated and flourished in the fertile soil of this great civilization.

The Department of Sanskrit of University of Delhi is one of the richest and biggest centres of Sanskrit Learning and research of the world wherein all major domains of Sanskrit Learning and research engagements are undertaken. On the other hand, Gandhi Bhawan, University of Delhi, is continuously engaging itself with propagation of Gandhian philosophy and Indian Cultural values among youth as well as the university fraternity.

We, in the Department of Sanskrit and Gandhi Bhawan, therefore, feel that this falls upon us morally to find ways and identify the means to design different modules and content suitable to be taught in various departments and faculties of Universities including other higher education learning centres.

As stated in the enclosed and proposed programme, the Department of Sanskrit and Gandhi Bhawan, University of Delhi, is going to organize a three-day National Workshop to bring this spirit of New Education Policy (NEP) 2020 on the ground.

We request the scholars and research students to participate and contribute.
